

IRLA Briefing

An update from the PRA on Operational Resilience

13 February 2024 15:00 – 16:30

Your speakers

Tom Alcock, IRLA Director

Tom is IRLA's Director with responsibility for regulatory matters. He joined the IRLA Board in January 2019.

Tom is a Senior Director in FTI Consulting's Global Insurance Services practice. A solicitor by profession, Tom's first experience of the legacy market was advising clients on their runoff portfolios' coverage and claims. Then he advised live market clients on preparing their portfolios for sale. Thereafter he had a variety of in-house roles in the legacy market, including Head of Complex Claims, GC and COO. Consequently, Tom has developed a broad and detailed knowledge of various aspects of the legacy market, including claims, M&A and regulation.

Tom Alcock | LinkedIn

Santosh Pandit, PRA, Senior Manager Insurance Risk Specialist

Santosh is a senior manager from the Prudential Regulation Authority, Bank of England. He is actively involved in PRA's work on Operational and Cyber Resilience, both as the subject matter expert and as a leader in crisis management situations.

Santosh will be happy to share his perspective not only as a regulator but also as a Non-Executive Director in the private sector. He strongly believes that operational and cyber resilience are less about regulatory compliance but more about business priorities.

Santosh is very hands-on when it comes to cybersecurity and its regulation. He is passionate about quantum computing and applied cryptography.

Santosh represented the UK on EIOPA's Cyber and IT Project Group and on the cyber stream of the EU-US Insurance Project. He speaks at a number of seminars and roundtables on behalf of the PRA and teaches Zero Trust, DDOS, ransomware and cybersecurity.

Santosh Pandit | LinkedIn